

Assertiveness

Practical information: Number of participants: Between 5 and 10
Duration: 1 day (09:00 – 17:00)
Price per person @ Valesta office: €750

Course Overview

Assertiveness is the quality of being self-assured and confident without being aggressive and is an important skill to possess in today's world. It is an effective communication style that is respectful of others yet clear and firm in intent. Assertive communication means standing up for yourself but doing so in such a way that respects your own rights and feelings, and does not trespass on the rights or feelings of others.

This one day course highlights that assertiveness is often correlated with good self-esteem and confidence and therefore is a very valuable skill to develop in any workplace. The core message of the course is that when you communicate assertively, you communicate honestly but appropriately. Upon completion, the participant will feel confident in using an assertive style of communication, with a deeper understanding of assertive language, tone and communication strategy and theory.

By attending this course you will gain:

- Insight in your own personal communication style
- Skills to enhance your own style through suitable techniques
- Strategies that allow you to become more assertive and confident, resulting in having a more positive impact on others

Course Content

The content of this course is theoretically based and can be adapted to participant's own communication style and needs, as all communication, convincing and influencing starts with the participant themselves. The course content, although practical in nature, is founded in theoretical models such as DESC approach and the participant will utilise this content to define their own strategy for assertive communication.

Topics covered during the training are:

- Understanding how you wish to collaborate with others
- Developing a convincing style of assertiveness
- Evolving from standard communication to powerful messages
- Discovering principles that strengthen your relationships with others
- Trusting the equation theory - David Maister
- Understanding your personal visions and limits
- Expressing your opinions and ideas assertively

The content of this course is practical in nature and active participation is essential. The course will highlight experiences from fellow attendees, resulting in practical insights that can be put into practice in the workplace. This practical approach helps participants achieve the best results in the different scenarios they may encounter in the future.
